Do you have questions about returning to China on homeland travel? Please join us for an informational meeting on homeland tours to China presented by Michael Han of Always and Forever Adoption Homeland Tours. Any adoptive family who is thinking about returning to China to visit is welcome to attend. These meetings will cover many aspects, from booking your flights to the emotional reactions of adoptees returning to their native countries. Michael will speak about services and tour programs offered by Always and Forever Adoption Homeland Tours, travel schedules and routes, group tours vs. individual travel, current conditions of Chinese orphanages, orphanage visits, shopping for airfare deals, assessing readiness and preparedness, and how to make the experience specific and meaningful for your family.

About the presenter: Michael Han is originally from China and has been working in the China adoption community since 1994. He was one of the founders and the Executive Director of a non-profit adoption agency specializing in adoptions from China. In his adoption professional career, Michael played a key role in placing over a thousand children from Chinese orphanages with American families. He built an excellent reputation for providing personalized services and arranging impeccable trips for adoptive families. In 2003, in response to the increasing demand by adoptive families with children from China, Michael founded Always and Forever Adoption Homeland Tours in Portland, Oregon to arrange homeland tours. Since its inception, the company has arranged group tours and customized individual tours for hundreds of families with children from China.
